A Whole LADA Mystery: Uncovering Latent Autoimmune Diabetes in Adults

Session Date: 03/26/2024

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

The 2020 International Diabetes Federation's Clinical Guidelines propose that latent autoimmune diabetes in adults (LADA) poses a unique challenge in its clinical management. Considered a form of autoimmune diabetes that shares features with both type 1 and type 2 diabetes, LADA often requires a nuanced approach for effective treatment. Traditionally, type 2 diabetes management has been the initial approach for LADA patients; however, evolving research highlights the importance of tailoring pharmaceutical therapy to preserve beta-cell function and improve long-term outcomes. This presentation will delve into the existing literature, comparing various regimens including insulin and oral hypoglycemic agents, as well as emerging therapies for LADA management.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Identify distinctions between LADA and other forms of diabetes.
2. Recognize key characteristics of LADA.
3. Outline a treatment plan for a patient with LADA.
